Hershey, PA 17033
(Behind the Hershey Outlet Center)

Responding to loose domestic animal complaints is common for the patrol officer. Sadly, sometimes this response requires the dispatching of animals when it is absolutely necessary, and as a last resort. These animals are not only the personal property of their owners, but they are often considered members of the family.

This training day is about how to better assess these situations and make smart, thoughtful decisions to protect the lives of the people and animals involved. This one-day course includes an overview of useful tools and tips to assist with the humane capture and restraint of common domestic animals, de-escalating dog situations without pulling the trigger, scared vs dangerously aggressive dogs, “shoot/don’t shoot” scenarios, how to manage available resources and have a plan in place BEFORE that call comes in, and more.

THIS COURSE IS RESTRICTED TO FULLY SWORN MUNICIPAL POLICE OFFICERS, STATE POLICE, COUNTY DETECTIVES, AND MEMBERS OF THE COUNTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICES.

TOPICS

- When the Call Comes in – Who is Responsible for Responding?
- Navigating the Relevant statutes that permit (or do not permit) the dispatching of animals
- Resource Management – Sort it out without the scrambling
- Scared vs Aggressive – De-Escalating and Not Escalating
- Whose Clock Are We On, Anyway?
- Shoot/Don't Shoot Scenarios – Exploring the Options
- The Animal Destruction Law and the AVMA Guidelines on Humane Euthanasia
- Tools, Tips, and Tricks of the Trade

Registration fee is $100.00/person. Includes course materials. Does not include lunch or hotel accommodations (if needed).
